FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Poor Business Reported on the West Coast.

General Stagnation on the Isthmus.

Smallpox in Colombia and Chili. Robberies Committed by Peace Officers.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 21.—The Pacific mail steamer Colima arrived this morning from Panama and way ports, bringing latest advices from Central and South American ports.

Smallpox was raging in Colombia with great severity, and many fatal cases are reported. The disease is likely to spread, owing to the intense heat, and so many of the people being inoculated.

Quito, Ecuador, was visited by a terrible hail storm October 30, that did great damage.

Donna Juana Seguel died lately at Zangai, Chili, at the advanced age of 123 years.

Reports from all parts of Chili state that smallpox is raging severely.

An important session of the municipal council of Carthagena, Colombia, was held November 12, when a resolution was unanimously adopted, stating that as the bad state of business, agriculture and the raising in the department of Bolivar and the sufferings of the working classes are entirely consequent on the cessation of work on the Panama canal, and that the department of Panama suffers the same depression, even to a greater degree, it is the duty of congress to endeavor to reach such an arrangement with the agent or liquidator of the canal company as will enable work to be resumed.

El Vos de Traiguera, of Traiguera, in Chili, says that John Wiedeman had been stopped and robbed by men belonging to the rural constabulary on the very outskirts of the town. Antonio Zuebe was stopped and robbed by constables just outside the town. One Haesh was attacked and robbed of a cartload of merchandise on the road to Nueva and narrowly escaped being shot. A man named Heger was attacked and robbed on the same road, and, finally, a colonist named Reidal, who was attacked, but escaped with his life, thanks to timely assistance lent him by fellow colonists; one of them, however, a German named Streuber, was shot in the leg. All these crimes, says the Vos de Traiguera, were committed by the rural constabulary.

Hon. N. T. Armo, minister of the United States of Colombia to Peru, died on November 11, after a long illness. He was very popular and his funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Lima.

As showing the effect of the general stagnation of business, the receipts of Calleo custom house for 1890 were only $435,680.

In Bolivia a congressional committee has been appointed to report on a resolution passed at the International Congress at Washington proposing international arbitration and the proposed intercontinental railroad.

A SQUARE MEAL.
Partaken of With Zest by the King of Fasters.

NEW YORK, December 21.—When Sig. Succi arose from sleep today, after a long slumber into which he fell soon after his feast ended last night, an elaborate meal was placed before him.

He ate with extraordinary relish, chicken soup, fried smelt, fried calves brain, quail on toast, fruit, confections, ice cream, coffee and a pint each of burgundy and Grand Sec. Succi occupied two hours consuming food. He never faltered, but ate with a zest that puzzled even George Francis Train, who was present. Julian Hawthorne, and poet Stephen Massett were also present when the fatter dined.

At the conclusion of the meal, Succi was presented with a handsome toothpick, and soon thereafter retired for a nap, preparatory to a trip to Boston, where he goes to exhibit at a museum.

A JAIL DELIVERY.
A Jailor Seized and Thrown Into a Cell at the Olympia Prison.

OLYMPIA, Wash., December 21.—Twelve prisoners confined in the county jail escaped this afternoon. Jailor Headly, 54 years of age, was seized and locked in a cell.

He was ascending the steps into the second story of the jail where the prisoners are confined and was followed by several of the prisoners who pushed the door open, seized him by the throat and took away his pistol and keys. The prisoners then had no difficulty in escaping. All the jailer remembers is that he was thrown into a cell.

Death of a Distinguished Old Fellow.
CHICAGO, December 21.—Dr. J. Ward Ellis, a well known dentist, died last evening at his residence in this city after a long illness.

Dr. Ellis was a thirty-third degree Mason and a member of the Knights of Pythias. In Old Fellowship he had passed all the chairs, and his life was devoted to the best interests of that order. At the time of his death, Dr. Ellis was the president of the California Pioneers' Association.

Admitted to the Priesthood.
BALTIMORE, December 21.—A number of St. Mary's Seminary students were ordained today by Cardinal Gibbons. Among them were the following from San Francisco: To the tonsure, John Aloysius Cull; to minor orders, Joseph Michael Gleason; to subdeaconship, Joseph Francis Byrne and Bernard James McKinnon.

Sentenced to Prison.
WASHINGTON, December 21.—Senator Hearst, of California, has been confined to his house since his arrival in the city with a severe attack of stomach and bowel trouble. He was in bad health when he left California and has been very sick since he reached Washington. Tonight he is reported a little better.

Floods in British Columbia.
VICTORIA, B. C., December 21.—Henry Craft, M. P., who was sent to Cowichan by the Government to report on the extent of the floods and the damage done, returned to Victoria today. He says the published reports were not at all exaggerated. Every bridge in the district will have to be rebuilt. The waters are now receding, and fears of further damage are allayed.

River Routabouts Killed.
EVANSVILLE, Ind., December 20.—A serious fight occurred on the steamer Big Sandy today. They were taking the crew of the wrecked steamer Ohio to Cincinnati and some, riding on the cook's quarters, a general row followed. The cook drew a revolver and fired into the crowd, killing two and fatally wounding one routabout.

Killed Five Men.
WHEELING, W. Va., December 21.—Word has just been received of a terrible tragedy at Bramwell, last night. Several men were gambling and became involved in a quarrel. A man named Budrick shot and fatally wounded his five companions, and was himself shot dead. A mob took Budrick's body, stood it up against a tree and riddled it with bullets.

Suicide of a Wealthy New Mexican.
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., December 21.—Nicholas Armiño, the wealthiest resident of this city, committed suicide this morning. The cause is unknown. Armiño was the owner of valuable property in Old Mexico, California, Arizona and different parts of New Mexico. He leaves a wife and seven children.

GREEN ERIN'S TROUBLE

Angry Encounters by Opposing Factions.

Timothy Harrington Returns to Ireland.

Gladstone Terms the Parnellites Seceders from the Irish Party.

KILKENNY, December 21.—Parnell and Scully, Parnellite candidates for Parliament, left here at noon for Clare. They were accompanied by a long procession of cars filled with Parnellites supporters. Upon arrival at Clare the Parnellites found a meeting proceeding opposite the Catholic chapel, in support of Sir John Pope Hennessy.

When Parnell reached the crowd the priest, Father Walsh, addressing Parnell, said: "These are chapel grounds. You must not speak here." A local farmer here interposed, saying the grounds did not belong to the chapel, and that Parnell had a perfect right to speak there. Parnell said that arrangements had been made to hold a meeting in that field, and it must proceed.

Father Walsh then requested everybody on his side to leave with him. Some few persons followed him, and Sir Thomas Esmond, who was also present. The meeting then organized and Parnell made an address. He said although his party did not have all the clergy on its side, he had no harsh words for any of them.

After some further remarks, Parnell concluded his speech and, leaving Clare, accompanied by Scully, drove six miles to Johnswell, where a meeting was held. Parnell reminded the electors that they had to deal with English statecraft, which was watching to seize every point of vantage ground that Irishmen surrendered. It was not for a big board of guardians that Ireland contended; it was only a parliament that would fully satisfy the aspirations of the people. To achieve this, the people must stand by their leader and not leave Ireland to incapable persons who are trying to step into his shoes. The men opposing him were not elected to sit in judgment on him. Until Ireland gave him his discharge, he would carry the national banner through the ranks of the foe.

Parnell returned to Kilkenny this evening. A meeting of Parnellites was held outside of Parnell's hotel here at 9 o'clock this evening. Parnell addressed the gathering.

RETURN OF HARRINGTON.
DUBLIN, December 21.—Timothy Harrington arrived last night in Cork, in company with the Mayor of that city.

The Parnellites had intended to greet him when he landed from the Aurania in Queenstown and had organized a torchlight procession in his honor. They missed being present on the steamer's arrival, but nevertheless made a demonstration. Finally a body of anti-Parnellites charged on the parade and routed them, throwing their torches into the harbor. Several people were hurt.

Harrington holds that a majority of the Irish in America are for Parnell, although, he says, most of the daily newspapers and leading politicians are against him.

Harrington, at Queenstown, said he believed if O'Brien had been at home, or if Parnell had seen his way to retire in accordance with the wishes of the majority, the present disastrous crisis would have been avoided. He supposed, however, that Parnell had good reasons for the course he has adopted. Harrington further said he regretted the personalities in which both sides have indulged. He was surprised that Parnell had descended to the use of scurrilous language. This unfortunate split in the party had frustrated the objects of the American mission, which would be useless to renew at the present, for while Irishmen were in their present bewildered state they would refuse to listen to the appeals of either party.

Speaking at Cork, when the Mayor presented an address to him, Harrington contended that whether or not Parnell's cause was right, those who after electing him leader, sought to oust him, forfeited the confidence of the Irish people. The English democracy, he declared, would support home rule and it was only necessary to bring up to the scratch the English politicians who would likely betray their Irish supporters in getting places after election. Parnell was not a mere political leader but rather the general of the country, leading his army to freedom. However men might shake their heads in the family circle, this is not the time to desert him which is more valuable than Gladstone's good intentions. The question of morality was settled at Leinster hall and the seceders possessed no program or plan justifying their desertion of their leader.

A LETTER BY GLADSTONE.
He Terms the Parnellites Seceders from the Irish Party.

LONDON, December 21.—Gladstone, in his letter to Sir Robert Peel, who is the home rule candidate in Marylebone district, says:

"For the first time since commencing a Parliamentary struggle under O'Connell the Irish party, bent on a constitutional and effective scheme of home rule, is looking to Great Britain for pronouncement judgment in a contest between it and a minority of seceders under Parnell. The Liberals of Great Britain, who, since 1885, have had to resist and overcome similar secession, will not doubt which side they are to commence work with. Assuredly you enter the field at a moment of extreme interest, when the cause of wisdom, justice and freedom has its claims upon all who love it enhanced beyond the ordinary standard."

A Breezy Letter From San Francisco.

Preparations Being Made for Christmas.

King Kalakaua's Visit to the City.

THEATRICAL BILL OF FARE FOR HOLIDAY WEEK.

Regular Correspondence of THE REPUBLICAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19, 1890. The reigning sensation is His Majesty King Kalakaua, the dusky monarch of the Hawaiian Islands. As you have heard, this island potentate arrived on the Charleston two weeks ago and has taken quarters at the Palace Hotel. He has been feted and wined to his heart's content. He has been the guest of various clubs, has reviewed a brigade of the National Guard at the skating rink, and has visited the theatres in state. If he does not have a royally good time here it will not be his fault, nor that of those who welcome such an occasion as the opportunity for a little extra high jinks.

A game of ball is to be played at the Haight street grounds on Saturday that will become historical. It is to be for the benefit of a fund inaugurated by a certain newspaper for the purchase of Christmas gifts for the children in the various orphan asylums and hospitals. I will not mention the name of the paper for it is getting enough advertising out of it as it is. The contesting clubs will comprise some of the most noted ball players in the country, and the umpire will be Col. Glas, F. Crocker, the vice-president of the Southern Pacific. King Kalakaua will attend in person, as will various other noted persons. One of the clubs will wear the Hawaiian colors and the other the red, white and blue. Although no international glory will attach to the winner, it is nevertheless to be hoped that the club victory, for some sentiment is certain to be involved. The dependent children will also be helped to enjoy Christmas at the California Theatre next Tuesday afternoon, under the management of Harry Mann. All the attractions in town will appear, and it will probably be the most notable benefit performance ever given in San Francisco.

Christmas is almost here, and we have so far had but five rainy days this season, one in September, two in November and two in this month, the last shower happening yesterday. But the sun is out again today, and the sages who prophesied a week's rain will have no use for the umbrellas which they brought down town with them this morning. Things are rather different from what they were last year, but last winter was a "shaler." This promises to be a dry winter. Christmas is really about the same wherever observed the world over, but to a man born and brought up in the East, Christmas never seems quite natural here, without the familiar concomitants of ice and snow as it is. I received a letter from home yesterday, which was written at night, but the wind blew off the ice and the boys are skating today. Merely one of the contrasts afforded by the East and the West. They are skating here on rollers, but roller skating is not a pale ghost compared with the most glorious exercise on earth—ice skating. The exaltation resulting from a spin over the frozen surface of pond or river, the blood tingling, every nerve a quiver with enjoyment, is the nearest approach to heaven I know.

THEATRICS ARE BOOMING. The most notable attraction at present asking our favor is the Emma Abbott Opera Company. Miss Abbott is an energetic and ingenious advertiser and has a good company, wears magnificent toilets and otherwise commends herself as a draw good houses. Never was especially charmed with Miss Abbott's singing, but she recognizes her own limitations and always secures the support of an efficient company, thereby ensuring a more than creditable performance.

The Hess Grand Opera Company at the Orpheum continues to surprise us. Grand opera at 50 and 75 cents, and unusually good grand opera at that. It is the universal opinion that there would be no kicking at opera sung at this company sings it, even if regular grand opera were charged. Grille, the leading tenor, was with the Patti Concert Company a couple of seasons ago and Pauline L'Allemant, the leading soprano, is one of the best known singers, having been one of the lights of the National Opera Company. The natural result of all this is that the Orpheum is not big enough to hold the people who want to see the company.

There has been some record-breaking done at the California Theatre lately. Frank Daniel, with "Little Puck," the first of his engagement played to the highest week's business the California has known since it was opened, and Jimmy Powers gathered the largest crowd on his opening night in the history of the theatre. Powers is producing his farcical, musical, etc., etc., success entitled "A Straight Tip." I call it a success because it is one financially, but I am sorry to have to say that I do not think much of it, for itself alone. And I am not judging it from a standard of dramatic hypercriticism, but as compared with other farce-comedy, so-called, successes. It is funny in spots and there are a few good things in it, but, in general, it rather wearied me.

The new Powell-Street Theatre was opened Monday night with a performance of what might be called high-priced specialties. The new theatre is

THE SEAL FISHERIES.

British Minister Parnecote an Advocate of Arbitration.

New York, December 21.—A dispatch to the Herald from Washington, says:

Sir Julian Parnecote expressed his surprise that there should be any difficulty in bringing the Behring Sea dispute to arbitration. "Both England and the United States," said he, "while differing on the facts bearing on the question, have a common object which seems susceptible to admission to arbitration. The form of submission referred to by President Harrison is simply an offer on the part of England to lay the dispute before an arbitrating power. The Behring Sea dispute is far less grave than the Alabama Claims case, which was submitted to arbitration without friction. What was done so readily then can surely be repeated, notwithstanding the parties are sincere, which I cannot doubt."

The Chart Jury Disagrees.
PRESIDENT, December 21.—The jury in the case of John Chart, charged with the murder of George Johnson, in September last, failed to agree and were discharged last night. They stood six for conviction and six for acquittal. The case will now go for a re-trial. An order of the court was issued this evening admitting Chart to bail in the sum of $5,000, which he will give.

Quarantine on American Cattle.
BRUSSELS, December 21.—Le Moniteur Belge announces in consequence of the intervention of United States Minister Terrell, the quarantine on American cattle has been reduced to five days.

NEXT WEEK'S FORECAST
OF LEGISLATIVE WORK IN THE NATIONAL CAPITOL.

Only Unimportant Measures to Be Considered Prior to the Short Adjournment for the Holidays.

WASHINGTON, December 21.—It is unlikely that any positive legislation will be achieved by Congress this week, and the failure to take the usual holiday recess is not expected to result in any measurable advancement of public business.

In the Senate, the Elections bill will probably consume the first three days of the week. The possibilities of an interruption hinge altogether on the result of negotiations now in progress among the Republican Senators on the subject of the caucus regarding the Financial bill. If a harmonious understanding to support this measure is reached, the Elections bill may be laid aside in its favor and the discussion in the Senate turned on financial matters until the day before Christmas, when it is expected a recess will be taken until Monday.

It is probable that successive adjournments for two or three days at a time will mark the course of the House during the Christmas holiday season. "No business of importance is expected to be done, as so many members have left Washington for home, that a quorum can hardly be secured. Monday is District of Columbia Day and the House will probably pass upon local legislation until some measure is proposed upon which a vote is demanded and the absence of a quorum thereby disclosed. Such other days in the week as the House is in session will probably be devoted to comparatively unimportant measures.

Murdered His Sweetheart.
NEW ORLEANS, December 21.—At New Iberia, Louisiana, last night, Ephraim Mendoza shot and killed Mary Williams, his sweetheart, while she was accompanied to a place of amusement by another suitor. Lynching is possible.

BLAZES OF A SABBATH
DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL REPAIR SHOPS.

Several Blocks of Buildings Consumed in a New England Town—Burning of an Alabama Opera House.

CHICAGO, December 21.—The paint shop and repair shop of the Illinois Central Railroad were entirely destroyed by fire tonight. In the first building were sixteen passenger coaches, worth $3500 each, and in the repair shop were four coaches nearly completed, also valued at $3500 each. The fire stopped just before reaching a building containing over $150,000 worth of patterns. The estimated loss is $125,000.

BUSINESS BLOCK BURNED.
ATHOL, Mass., December 21.—The most disastrous fire ever known in Athol occurred today. The Masonic and Central blocks were completely destroyed, merchants, the postoffice, Masonic rooms, etc., being burned out. Five persons were seriously injured. Loss, $135,000.

BURNING OF AN OPERA HOUSE.
OPELIKA, Ala., December 21.—The opera house was partially destroyed by fire early this morning and several men were severely injured.

KILLED HIS WIFE.
A Jealous Old Man Chooses His Marital Partner to Death.

CHICAGO, December 21.—Henry Christianson, 61 years old, residing at 4109 Drexel avenue, last night choked his wife to death and then cut his throat.

He resided with his daughter and her husband, who were absent until a late hour last night. This morning the discovery was made and the old man taken to a hospital, twelve miles distant, with his throat cut from ear to ear. It is supposed that the old man was jealous of his wife on account of her generosity to members of his family.

ARIZONA UNIVERSITY

An Educational Institution of Much Merit.

Work of Construction Now in Progress.

Special Attention to Be Paid to Developing the Territory's Agricultural Resources.

From the Tucson Star.

The University of Arizona, with its several adjuncts, is fast growing to be an institution of more than ordinary importance. The law providing for the erection and maintenance of the institution of learning contemplates the establishing of five branches of education, but owing to the great and growing importance of mining in Arizona the Board of Regents concluded to first erect and confine the limited resources to a school of mines, and to that end are pushing the work of establishment of this one branch.

This building is located on an elevated piece of land within one mile of the business portion of Tucson. The site is an excellent one, commanding a beautiful view of the valley of the Santa Cruz, the city of Tucson and the magnificent mountain ranges which surround her.

Owing to the confusion among the several Boards of Supervisors of the different counties last year as to their duty in making a tax levy of three-quarters of a mill, the Board was seriously handicapped for means and could not push to completion this magnificent building, thus delaying the opening of the school. There has been expended on this building of Territorial funds nearly $30,000 and it will take about $8000 more to complete it. The two west rooms have been completed by funds furnished by the Government.

By an act of Congress passed in 1882 and amended in 1886, each State and Territory, on the fulfillment of certain requirements, is granted $15,000 per annum for the establishment and maintenance of the experimental agricultural or vice secretary of Agriculture. Energetic efforts were instituted immediately upon Governor Wolfley's advent as Governor, looking to the securing of this amount for Arizona, and the efforts were crowned with success, and for the year ending June 30, 1890, the Board of Regents received $10,000, this amount being their proportion of an amount included in a deficiency bill for the relief of Arizona, Utah and New Mexico. The amount for this fiscal year will be $15,000.

The board were so fortunate as to secure the services of Mr. F. A. Gulley, a graduate of the agricultural college of Michigan, as Director of Experimental Stations and Professor of Agriculture, and immediate steps were taken looking to the establishment of stations, that the various conditions and locations will be fruit and grape culture, experiments. One has been located at Tucson, one at Phoenix, one at Tempe and Blaisdell's place, near Yuma. The one at Tucson will be principally conducted in experimenting with shrubs, trees and ornamental plants, forage and other grasses. The one at Phoenix, consisting of forty acres, within a mile of the city, will be used in experimenting with citrus and deciduous trees, the growing and curing of forage grasses, irrigation and other experiments that will be of great value to the Salt River Valley. Those at Tempe, and also at Blaisdell's place, will be fruit and grape culture, and much hopes are entertained by the board of the ultimate success of the orange, lemon and lime experiments, at those three stations. The experiments which have been carried on during the past three years by Mr. Blaisdell will be carried on by the board, thus having an excellent college.

Mr. C. B. Collingwood has been secured as chemist, and will at once begin making a chemical analysis of the soils and waters, and has already commenced testing the quality of sugar cane, beets, and other saccharine plants, in hopes that the result will be favorable as compared to other countries, thus inducing immigration to Arizona.

In addition to the above mentioned amount received from the Government by an act passed by Congress during September, the Territory has received $15,000 for the establishment and maintenance of the experimental stations. This college will be located in the University building at Tucson, and run under the same managing board of control, as the school of mines and the experimental stations. This amount has now been made available and in the early spring the college will be opened for students. A limited curriculum has been adopted, comprehending the study of the higher mathematics, botany, chemistry, mineralogy, and agricultural sciences, taking the pupil as the graduates from our grammar schools and carrying him forward in the above mentioned studies.

Apparatus to the amount of $3000 has been ordered and will be here about February next. The greater portion of this comes from abroad, and importing in this manner it is admitted free of duty, thus saving the profit of the middleman. The laboratory is a limited extent, will be in operation by January first. The University grounds have been laid out after the most approved fashion, sites being reserved for dwelling houses for the faculty immediately to the north of the present building, and a dormitory for the scholars, south and west of the college building, a wide drive leading to the main entrance of the building from the west, another encircling the greater portion of the grounds. The grounds are now being plowed and tree planting will begin as soon as they arrive from California, from where they have been ordered.

The Territory is receiving a great benefit from this governmental act, and the board should be encouraged and helped by the good will of the citizens of the Territory, as this is all the compensation they receive for the handling of those large sums of money.

THE MORMONS IN MEXICO

TEN THOUSAND LATTER-DAY SAINTS TO EMIGRATE.

Three Million Acres of Land Secured in Northern Mexico, Upon Which to Found Subsidized Colonies.

PITTSBURG, December 21.—A special from Lima, Ohio, says:

B. C. Faurot, a well-known banker of this city, and who is also president of the Columbus & Northwestern Railroad, Mexico, returned home from New York this afternoon and announces the consummation of a deal by which John W. Young, eldest son of the late Brigham Young, comes into possession of the three million acres of land which was granted Faurot by the Mexican government three years ago. Negotiations have been in progress for some time and finally closed in New York yesterday.

The land is located in the northern part of Mexico. About three years ago Faurot obtained a valuable grant from the Mexican government, which included these lands, the stipulation being the construction of a railway, extending from Deming, N. M., to Topolamp Bay on the Pacific Coast. The Mexican government, in connection with this grant, offers $200 to every family and $50 to each man who locates permanently on this land.

Young has ten thousand people who will colonize on these lands. It is understood they are all Mormons who now reside in Utah.

A NEW HORSE BREED.
An Experiment in Horseflesh to Be Tried in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, December 21.—W. H. Wilson has sold to Messrs. Reeves & Bean, of New York, the famous exhibition mare, Lady De Jarnette, and twenty head of fillies, colts and geldings, all by her son, Jubilee.

De Jarnette's purchasers have left the whole outfit in the hands of Wilson, with a view to carrying out the original plan to produce a distinct breed of harness horses with the famous mare as a foundation. The price of the lot was $10,000.

A COOL FRAUD.
Perpetrated by a Freightier With a Team He Had in Charge.

About three weeks ago, J. T. Cone and William Brush, together fitted out a ten-horse team, Cone furnishing four horses and Brush putting in five mules belonging to J. C. Demman, and one horse procured from Frank Barley, to make the trip with. The outfit was loaded with 7000 pounds of freight for the Crown King mine in Bradshaw District, in Yavapai County. "Mickey" Green went along with his team, loaded with freight for the same place.

Mr. Cone went on ahead, and after waiting in vain ten days at the Boaz mine for the teams to come up, he started out to look for them, and found "Mickey" Green, but Brush was not with him.

When they started out of Phoenix, the rains had made the roads very soft and muddy and considerable difficulty was experienced in getting to the Hassayampa. This treacherous stream was up when they arrived, and in crossing Brush turned his lead wagon over in the water and lost the load. They succeeded, however, in getting the wagons out.

Not having any load to haul now, he probably thought the team was of no further use to him, so, claiming ownership, he sold the six mules to Mr. Green for $400, and borrowed a horse and saddle to ride to Prescott, but came to Phoenix instead, arriving last Thursday. He bought himself a new suit of clothes and took Wednesday morning's train for parts unknown.

The Dumb Brute's Friend.
New York, December 21.—Samuel Plimsoll, the well-known English philanthropist, arrived here from England yesterday, and has been busy in eliciting the sympathy of the men in the movement to abolish the shipping of live cattle across the ocean for beef. Plimsoll believes it to be more humane and no more expensive to do the killing here.
